VOLUME 20 — MENLO PARK, SAN MATEO COUNTY CALIFORNIA, FRIDAY, JANUARY 15, 1943 — NUMBER 12

U. S. Is Calling All to Colors

Will Use Everyone Able to Turn Hand to Help in Winning War.

WASHINGTON. — Every able American will be getting some kind of training by the end of 1943 in the nation's effort to win the war. Millions of men and women will have to adapt themselves to new ways of working and living.

At least 5,000,000 women, for instance, must receive production training over the next 13 months, for many of the women upon whom industry is depending for its new labor supplies never have worked outside their homes.

Increasing numbers of men will go into the armed forces; city youths will be trained to plow fields, milk cows, raise chickens on farms. High school boys and girls will be trained to do janitor service, work in stores, do housework and take care of children. Tiny youngsters will drill for air-raid protection.

Work for Handicapped.

Even the physically handicapped, capable of working and free from defects that might endanger theirs or another's safety, will be taught to be useful.

The Office of War Information reported that approximately 15 million American women, or less than 23 per cent of the total female population, have paying jobs and that only four million of them are doing war work.

This compared with the total of 11,100,000 working in 1940 and the estimated 18 million women who will be working outside their homes by the end of next year, the OWI said.

In 1940, 1,400,000 were doing work involving national defense, OWI said, predicting that by the end of 1943 the number of women war workers would rise to six million, or 30 per cent of the expected total labor force of 20 million in war industries.

The OWI also noted that the Nazi government had made an about-face in policy regarding women workers.

"Germany as early as 1939 had sidetracked her prejudice against allowing women to leave 'children, church and kitchen' and had 37 per cent of all of them in jobs," OWI said.

Figures on German employment of women in 1941, given by the International Labor Office, "indicate how close to maximum utilization of available manpower Germany had then reached," the statement said.

In that year, 64 per cent of the German girls aged 15 to 19 were gainfully employed, 44 per cent of the women 20 to 65, and 13 per cent of those 65 and over.

Work for 60 Million.

President Roosevelt, in a recent statement, estimated that the number of Americans who will be engaged either in the armed forces, or in war work of some kind, will total 62,500,000 by December, 1943.

Through the volunteer training program of the Office of Civilian Defense, Mr. and Mrs. Average citizen are being turned out as first-rate air-raid wardens, airplane spotters, nurses aids, fire fighters.

Additional thousands of volunteers are being trained by the American Red Cross, the American Women's Voluntary services and other organizations in first aid, to make bandages, to repair trucks, drive ambulances and run canteens.

Aviation companies are training workers in every field, and communications and transportation companies have thorough, short-term programs to put workers through the paces before their experienced help is taken away.

Most far-reaching of federal services is the vocational training program. In the last 28 months, 3,100,000 persons have been trained for war work under this plan in 2,500 vocational schools.

British Shipyard Run By Female Help Only

LONDON.—Somewhere along the coast of Britain is a shipbuilding yard that is operated entirely by women. And they are turning out as proportionate a number of seagoing vessels as any man-run yard in the country.

They are engaged, at the present time, in constructing ships which are urgently needed for special work.

A large percentage of the women were experienced shipyard workers before the war; others went through special training periods in schools set up at the port.

So successful has been the experiment of women-built ships that the government is considering expanding the scheme. This will also help solve the acute labor shortage felt in Britain's shipyards.

Women at War

Mom

"Sausages for breakfast! Sausages for breakfast! I can smell 'em!" Small Joe came tumbling downstairs fastening the belt of his shorts as he came. He made a beeline for the kitchen. Pop was already sitting at the table, reading the paper, while Mom held the handle of the frying-pan over the stove. Small Joe came close and sniffed the delicious smoke, wriggling all over with early-morning joy.

"Better be thankful for them while you can still get them." One glance at Mom's face told small Joe this was one of her tight-lipped days. "Not a drop of coffee in the house, and no sugar left to put in it if there was. Some war!" Small Joe kept still.

"Letter for you, son," Pop said in his quiet voice. Small Joe made a leap for his place at table. There it was, a private personal letter for him alone, propped against his milk glass.

"Hey, Pop! It's from brother!" Small Joe was pulling the envelope apart and diving into the contents. "Hey, look what he sent me." He passed over an oblong of thick, crinkly paper while he leaned over the sheet of writing-paper.

"A twenty-five dollar War Bond," Pop said slowly. Mom turned and looked at it over Pop's shoulder, with the frying-pan in her hand.

"Listen what he says. 'How are you doing, kid? Hurry and grow up so you can help me slap the Japs. Aren't you most big enough to get into the Army? Here's something for you in your name. Let's the whole family gang up and help to win this war.'"

Pop and Mom were silent. But small Joe didn't notice that. He was full of his letter and his War Bond.

"Gee, Pop, in six years I could get into the Army, couldn't I, Pop? Gee, Pop, I want to be a soldier like brother and fight in this war. Gee, isn't that bond nifty? Look, it was issued in Honolulu. It's mine."

But Pop was looking at Mom and Mom was looking at Pop. There were tears in Mom's eyes. She shook her head sharply. Pop reached out and patted her hand gently.

"Well, can't let our soldier boy beat us to buying War Bonds, can we, old lady?" was all he said.

She shook her head again. "I guess if he can give up his job and . . . and go off to war I can do some fighting back at home," she said in a queer voice. Small Joe looked up at her in surprise. She saw him looking at her and spoke sharply. "Well, Joe. We're about ready to eat. Say grace."

Small Joe folded his hands and bent his head as he had been taught. "Oh Lord, we thank thee for this food and all thy bountiful gifts . . ."

"Amen," Pop said.

"Amen," Mom said. "Now eat your good sausages."

(Story from an actual report in the files of the Treasury Department.)

Amen: Say yes. Take your change in War Stamps. The least you can do is the most you can buy in War Bonds. U. S. Treasury Department

Better Put on Your Sprint Shoes, Adolf

SAN ANTONIO AVIATION CADET CENTER. — Donald R. Baxter is a cross-country runner of no mean ability. The Puente, Calif., youth, now in training to become a pilot officer in the army air forces, won seven school letters, 12 medals and two trophies for distance running while in school. He attended Placer Junior college at Auburn.

Apple-Eating Cow

MELBOURNE.—Charles Binnie of the Stockowners Association of New South Wales, reports that a cow recently "went on a bender" by gorging herself in an orchard with fallen apples, "which turned to cider insider."

Slogan for Smokers

BOSTON. — The forest service's fire prevention slogan for campers and hunters is: "Chaperon your cigarettes—don't let them go out alone."

Sandwich Wagon Closes Wednesdays

Mrs. O,Neil, who has operated the Sandwich Wagon on the highway in this city for many years, announces that beginning last Wednesday she will close her place of business each Wednesday for the time being. This it necessitated by her inability to secure additional help and also to the growing shortage of "hamburger" upon which the Wagon has built its most enviable record.

The Wagon which was first brought to Menlo Park as a business enterprise by CCharles O'Neil has become a landmark for the city. It is known over the lenght and the breadth of the state of California, and even in the middle-west for the fine hamburger sandwiches it has servved to its patrons, and following the death of Mr. O'Nneil his wife has conducted the business with the same high quality of food. It is the hope of the Wagon's many patrons that the Wednesday closing will be of short duration.

Menlo Women Assigned To Duty

FORT DES MOINES, IA. Jany. 14.—A member of the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps from Menlo Park has been commissioned Third Officer at the First WAAC Training Center here.

She is Mabel Elizabeth Kessing, 280 Arlington Way.

Third Officer is the WAAC equivalent to Second Lieutenant, Officer candidates are selected from Auxiliaries of the Corps who have demonstrated qualities of leadership, competence and devotion to duty.

Third Officer Kessing was presented with her commission by Brigadier General Luther S Smith, Director of Individual Training at Headquarters, Army Air Forces, in Washington, D. C., who was graduation speaker for the Tenth Officer Training class.

Mrs Catherine E. Hubber, 321 Arlington Way of this city has also been selected for duty in the same Corps.

B. C. HARVEY NEW S. P. TRAVELING PASSENGER MAN

Appointment of B. C. Harvey as traveling passenger agent for the Southern Pacific with headquarters at Palo Alto was announced this week gy T. Louis Chess, district passenger agent for the railroad.

Harvey will have supervision over the teritory from Atherton to Sunnyvale and to Los Altos, and will make his home in Palo Alto. He began his service with Southern Pacific in 1922 as a ticket clerk.

SEQUOIA HIGH SHORT ON WAR STAMP - BOND SALES

Sequoia High school fell 10 per cent short of earning the United States Treasury flag in the school war bond and stamp drive during December. Ninety per cent of the student must purchase stamps during the month before the "minute man" flag may be flown.

Total amount sold in December was $7,500 while $21,0000 inbo nds was sold since September 14.

P. A. Yachting News Added Feature

Mark Nesbit, secretary of the Palo Alto Yacht Club has consented to write the yachting and marine news for the Recorder—Editor.

By Mark C. Nesbit

If you see a man waving his arms and going through all sorts of motions, don't call the police, because he's probably a member of the local Coast Guard Auxiliary just practicing semaphone signaling. That is the first course they have decided to study at their meetings. Paul Fenner, Federal Communications Inspector will act as instructor and the coures will include semaphore, blinker and wig-wag signaling.

Once more the subject of those hunting knives comes up.We know you love them the same as we do but our boys lives depend on them, so let's dig them up today, not tomorrow.

Lions Club Asks For Hunting Knives

The Menlo Park Lions Club is asking all resdents of the city and vicinity to turn in their hunting knives for use by the Aremican armed forces in the Solomons and New Guinea. The government has asked for these knives to fill a short age of this kind of weapon for used against the Japs in the jungles, wwhere rifles and bayonets are of little or no use owing to their extremen length, most of the work being done at close quarters, and then again paths have to be chopped and hacked through dense undergrowth.

It is pointed out that, if you cannot go over there yourself to do the job, you can at least send that trusty knife that has aided on those hunting trips. It will do as good a job on the ungles as it did at home in the woods and hills.

The Menlo Park Hardware store at the Corner of El Camino Real and Santa Cruz avenue is receiving the knives and Bill Ryan will see to it that they are delivered to the proper source.

Other speakers for the assebly, all Victory Corps council members, who spoke on the requirements of the various divisions were Margaret Wrigley, Bob Conner, Jess Nelson, Bill Sigal, Marie Guida and Jane Gordon.

Highway Left Turns Out By Council Order

The Menlo Park City Council, at the recommendation of Col. John H. Skaggs, district engineer of the California Highway Department, made plans to ban left turns from El Camino Real into five streets in the city. This action was take at the Tuesday night meeting.

The five street which will be closed to left turn traffic from El Camino Real are Creek Drive, Harvard, Roble, Menlo and Ravenswood avenuse.

Col. Skaggs stated that the elimination of left turns into at least five streets was necessary to insure safety measures, since El Camino Real is a thoroughfare. He stated that the highway department was prepared to install diagonal white lines down the middle of El Camino Real, cutting off left turn traffic into the streets named. Right turns into these streets will still be allowed.

While the council practically approved the closing of these five street, it set Monday night for a special hearing on the matter. All residents who wish to be heard before the council takes finad action. The meeting will be held at the city hall Monday at 7:30 p. m.

It was proposed by the council ot form an assessment district to force property owners along the highway to install curbs and sidewalks in front of their property. It was pointed out that some of the property owners had not voluntraily agreed to do this.

The council agreed to the proposal and announced they would create the assessment district unless the owners who had not signed up agreed to by the next meeting on January 25th.

A resolution wwas adopted that provides that Building Inspector John Glunz be paid 500 per cent of all building permit, supervision and inspection fees—and guaranteed a minimum of $25 a month.

Donald Fisher, of Stanford Park, who appeared before the council to protest local water rates, was appointed to the water commission, which is investigating the possibility of lowering waterrat es.

THE MOST YOU CAN BUY IS THE LEAST YOU CAN DO

Lights of New York

by L. L. STEVENSON

Ramblings and ruminations: A really beautiful and very expensively dressed young girl rushing up to and kissing an oldish man who is waiting in front of the Astor . . . and knowing grins on the faces of onlooking Broadwayites vanishing suddenly when they learn that the man and girl are really father and daughter . . . Tall and graceful Katharine Hepburn turning into 44th street and heading for the St. James theater . . . Mayor LaGuardia who appears to have taken on a bit of weight, riding by in his war car busily scanning official looking papers . . . A trio of song writers in a low-voiced huddle at 47th street and Broadway, probably trying to dream up some new rhyme with "moon" . . . A dirty-faced street urchin mincing along behind an overstuffed and overdressed dame with her nose upturned snootily . . . and who is all unknowing why so many strollers are smiling.

A group of misses, as colorfully dressed as if the season were spring, chattering along Park avenue . . . It develops they are on their way to rehearse for some amateur production to be given for charity . . . They remind me of my own stage career—one performance in an amateur offering titled, "The Charity Ball," in Dickson's Grand Opera house . . . After that, I was fully convinced it would be better to stick to newspaper work . . . A doorman well over six feet and with weight in keeping, leading a pocket-sized Pom . . . While a bantam doorman leads a Great Dane almost as large as himself . . . Must be a gay life that of a doorman in a ritzy apartment house . . . But then there are tips . . . Quentin Reynolds, who soon will resume his travels, towering over other avenue pedestrians.

Humanity of all degrees clotted at Fifth avenue and 42nd street waiting impatiently for the light to change . . . Gloria Swanson smiling at friends as she hurries up the avenue . . . A bespectacled youth coming out of the public library with his arms loaded heavily with books . . . Must have a lot of research work to do . . . Press agents going into the library to seek for words to put into the mouths of clients . . . A panhandler, who in keeping with the times, has switched his line . . . Instead of a nickel for a "cuppa cawfee," he pleads for subway fare to Brooklyn where a job awaits him . . . Bootblacks of various complexions and ages, lined up along the 42nd street wall of Bryant park . . . and all keeping a watchful eye out for a cop who might be hostile . . . A woman with bright purple hair . . . Evidently a beauty shop tactical error.

The motley throng, mostly male, strolling 42nd street staring at posters of girley shows or into windows of stores selling sporting goods . . . Among them, clean looking young men in uniform—a startling contrast to nondescript attire and general slouchiness . . . A white-faced, sunken-cheeked young girl catching a glimpse of herself in a widow mirror . . . and turning away with a clutch at her throat . . . There's one in mine too . . . A peddler of 25-cent spectacles who guarantees a perfect fit or money back . . . Wonder where he'll be tomorrow at this time in case a customer tries to look him up . . . Probably take more than a pair of specs to see him . . . A peddler of good luck charms who looks as if he could use one himself.

A light-footed colored boy dancing for pennies on 46th street . . . and probably hoping that he will be noticed by some musical comedy producer . . . The driver of a big bus who evidently thinks that pedestrians have eyes in the backs of their heads, almost scoring a double hit as he swings around a corner without even so much as a honk of the horn . . . While a taxi driver shows he's human by stopping to let an old couple totter past . . . The usual procedure is to cause pace acceleration by racing the motor.

THANK YOU
for your cooperation

To the great number of people who responded to the Government's appeal not to travel over the holidays, we want to extend our sincere thanks.

Your cooperation enabled us to take care of those who had to travel—the men of our armed forces. We are sure that the thousands of service men who were able to get well-earned holiday leaves and furloughs also appreciated your cooperation in making more room for them on the buses.

WHAT ABOUT 1943?

Bus transportation has proved to be a vital necessity to a nation at war.

Today America's bus lines are all performing a tremendous task in transporting, with limited equipment and facilities, millions of additional riders—fighting men and war workers.

In 1943 Greyhound will continue to put all of its resources behind the war effort, to provide transportation for the armed forces, war workers and other essential travelers. And every effort will be made to improve our service as rapidly as war conditions will permit.

At this time all of us of Pacific Greyhound Lines extend to our friends and patrons every good wish for the coming year.

Vaudeville Is Hit With U. S. Trainees

Packed Houses Everywhere Greet Players.

SAN FRANCISCO.—If vaudeville is dead, thousands of army trainees all over the country have been seeing ghosts—some shapely ones at that.

In addition to many major radio shows which are touring camps, principal regular contributors to trainees entertainment are USO shows and the four Camel Caravans.

The typical show, such as the Caravan now in California on its second swing around the Western states, is put on by professional show people recruited from Hollywood and New York.

In a giant bus packed with props and scenery, 18 troupers travel from camp to camp. Their manager, in this case Joe Rardin, knows the general itinerary of his troupe but relies on regular messages from the war department for specific information as to where the players are due.

This Western troupe of th van has been on the road since April.

At the camps the players are rewarded for long bus trips and the inconveniences of a mechanized nomadic life by packed houses and boundlessly enthusiastic audiences.

The show is sparked by Joe Rardin, emcee and singer, with his interpretations of Tommy Dorsey's slide trombone and Harry James' clarinet.

Whistles as piercing as any air raid siren greet the appearance of blonde singer Jean Carol who was formerly with the Earl Carroll show in Hollywood.

All other members of the show—the agile and lovely dancer, the comedy team, the western band—are justifiably well received by the entertainment-hungry trainees.

Tung Nut Crop of 1942 Is Ahead of All Marks

CAIRO, GA.—According to official reports, this year's production of tung nuts from which an oil vital to the war effort is extracted, will be the greatest, by far, since the industry was established some few years ago. Nature, say the growers, has teamed up with them and their experimentations to give the United States a bumper crop.

The crop is just now reaching maturity, and so vital is tung oil to the war effort that federal agencies seized complete control of the industry shortly after the outbreak of the war. Until recent years the United States imported 100 million dollars' worth of the oil from China annually, but the imports had been reduced to almost nothing even before Pearl Harbor.

Market prices on the nuts doubled last season with the bulk of the crop selling at $80 and $85 per ton, the highest prices on record in this country, and it is predicted that prices will be as good, if not better, this marketing season. At present the belt center is around Cairo.

Dad's in $100 Spin as His Son Loops the Loop

KANSAS CITY.—Five-year-old Arnold Garfinkel did a $100 rope trick—which his father did not like.

The father, Morris, was playing cards with Mrs. Garfinkel when the telephone rang. He discovered when he tried to arise that son Arnold had tied his legs to the chair.

As he struggled the maid rushed in.

"Oh, Mr. Garfinkel, that was the radio program man, and he wanted you to answer the $100 question . . . he wouldn't wait, though."

The question: How many light bulbs in the house?

Garfinkel said he knew.

Wood Carvings of Birds Is Hobby of Aged Man

PROVIDENCE, R. I.—To keep himself occupied while sick several years ago, Otto Carlborg tried wood carving.

Now 82 years old, Carlborg has gained wide reputation for his wood carvings of birds. All are hand-painted in natural colors and 50 varieties are numbered in Carlborg's personal collection.

Even Generals and Staff Officers Have to Hike

COLUMBIA, S. C.—Tramp, tramp, tramp, the generals are marching, too. It's Maj. Gen. Withers A. Burress and his staff.

The general, feeling that his headquarters staff has been overlooked in orders decreeing a stiff physical training program for his division, ordered the staff workouts—three times a week.

Woman Hunter Gets Back Fine in Court

LA GRANDE, ORE.—Justice of the Peace George H. Currey returned the $25 fine imposed on Mrs. Elsie Churchill for violation of hunting laws because he was impressed by her story. Forests had been closed for weeks because of fire danger and she told the court she thought that rains automatically opened the season before she shot a deer.

Seeing Eye Dog Doesn't Trust Master in Store

EDWARDSVILLE, ILL. — John Merkel, blind operator of the Madison County Courthouse concession stand here has a newly acquired "seeing eye" German Shepherd dog named "Phil" that does not trust his master in a dime store.

"Phil pulled a fast one on him the other day," Merkel relates. "I wanted to go into the dime store. He led me in one door, but before I knew it he had taken me right back to the street, through the second front entrance."

Aged Doctor's Teaching Probably Saved Own Life

SANTA ROSA, CALIF.—Dr. W. C. Shipley, 70, may have saved his own life by a first-aid lecture to a Red Cross class.

As he completed his instructions he collapsed. With the subject fresh in mind, members of the class quickly applied first aid and had him removed to a hospital. He recovered.

Name Doesn't Prove Thing In Case of Little Family

WASCO, CALIF.—There is nothing "small" about the Little family or their all-out aid in the war effort.

Five of Mr. and Mrs. James Little's six sons are already in the services and the other, a horticulturalist at the University of California at Los Angeles, is awaiting his call.

In addition, Mr. Little is engaged in war industry, while Mrs. Little raises "food for victory" with the help of a hired man on the family farm in Kern county. Daughter is secretary to a Minter Field army officer.

The Little sons include Keith, a second lieutenant in the army engineer corps; Douglas, an aviation cadet; Kenneth, an ensign in the naval air corps, and Malcomb, of the coast guard.

Lieut. Harold Bostwick, who used to be one of the key (board) men in Leo Reisman's orchestra, spending some of the best hours of his furlough at the Hickory house, sitting in with Eddie South's band during a post-midnight jam session . . . Five children, ranging in age from 4 to 12, peeping into the Savoy-Plaza's cafe lounge during the day to see where "daddy works"—"daddy" being that ebullient Celtic warbler Morton Downey . . . Sally Keith, the "tassel dancer" in the late "Priorities," donating her tassels to "Bubbles LaRue," Bill Baird's puppet stripeuse at the Ruban Bleu.

THANK YOU!

The people who live in the cities, towns and villages along Southern Pacific's lines in the West have just provided a fine example of war-time cooperation.

We think this cooperation deserves recognition and we want to say "thank you" . . . since Southern Pacific was primarily concerned. And we're quite sure the many thousands of men in uniform who benefitted too, would also like to join us in this expression of appreciation.

Early in December we were faced with the problem of providing transportation during the holidays for a very large number of men in the armed services who were to be given holiday furloughs. Because of the pressure of war traffic on our equipment . . . cars and locomotives . . . we knew that we could not provide transportation for all these service men and the normal number of civilian holiday travelers too.

So we arranged a somewhat drastic and extensive program requiring coach reservations for virtually all trains, and set aside a major portion of both Pullman and coach space for the service men. Then we ran advertising telling people what our problem was, and why we could not take care of everyone who would like to travel during the holidays. We asked people not to "Try the Train".

As a result many people gave up holiday trips they very much wanted to make. The amount of civilian travel, compared with December, 1941, was considerably reduced and we took care of the service men in good shape. There was comparatively little congestion, and all essential travel was accommodated.

So we know that people generally have cooperated . . . and we give you all a hearty "thank you."

May we also express our appreciation at this time for your considerate and understanding attitude towards Southern Pacific and its service during the last twelve months?

We hope you will continue to confine your trips, in 1943, to essential travel.

A. T. MERCIER, President

Helpful Suggestions for War Time Economy of operation through proper care and use of Appliances

Here is the answer to hundreds of questions about How to Keep Your Appliances on the Job—this profusely illustrated 32 page book shows you how to take proper care of your appliances to get the longest possible life and most economy in operation. And it's FREE at any P. G. and E. office.

With the manufacturers of household appliances now engaged in the production of essential war goods, few if any new appliances will be built until Victory is won. That means YOU—all of us—must take care of the appliances we own and use them properly. By taking care of them, making sure they are not abused in service, you gain in TWO ways. Your appliances will have longer life—your appliances will operate with greater economy. You are money ahead each way.

This booklet was especially prepared to guide you in appliance care and use. It's title is "The Lady of the House and Her Mechanical Servants". In 32 illustrated pages it tells how you can have full normal use of all your appliances for comfort, convenience and work-saving if you follow its common sense suggestions.

Be sure to get a copy of this 32 page booklet. Keep it handy. It is as essential as your Civilian Defense Booklets, your First Aid Booklet or your favorite Cook Book. Come in for your copy of this FREE booklet today. Ask at any P. G. and E. office.

Million Jews Slain in Poland

One-Third of Number in Country Are Put to Death by Nazis.

LONDON.—One million persons, nearly a third of Poland's Jewish population, perished in three years of German occupation, Dr. Ignacy Szwarcbart, Jewish member of the Polish national council in London, told a New York Times correspondent, amplifying Polish government information on the new Nazi onslaught on the Jews.

Plans outlined by Dr. Alfred Rosenberg—who says that the Jewish problem of Europe will be solved when no Jews are left—are systematically carried out. The victims of executions by mass-murder and gassing are only part of the thousands dying through "the organized spreading of diseases and the artificial creation of conditions in which children, elderly people and the sick cannot survive, as Dr. Szwarcbart described it.

Million Others Menaced.

A million more persons, at least, are menaced by starvation and the lack of medical supplies. The Nazis make it plain that all Jews not wanted for military reasons must die. Poland is now a mass grave. Jews from all Europe are brought to the Warsaw ghetto and separated into two groups: the able-bodied young and the children, old and sick, who are dispatched eastward to meet sure death. Lublin, indeed, has two ghettoes, one for able workers, the other for the useless condemned to destruction.

One hundred twenty thousand have been brought from Czechoslovakia and tens of thousands from Germany, Austria, Hungary, Holland, Belgium and France. The Lodz ghetto, containing many Jews from the West, has been completely closed for several weeks and no news has been allowed to penetrate through its walls.

A government report tells how a mass electrocution was carried out at Belzac. Deportees from Warsaw were packed into a barracks and ordered to strip naked, ostensibly to have a bath—then they were pushed into a room with a metal floor. The door was locked and current was passed. Death came instantaneously. A large digging machine was installed near by to dig mass graves.

Wise Explains His Stand.

Rabbi Stephen S. Wise, acting as chairman of a special conference of Jewish organizations, announced here that the organizations were convinced of the authenticity of a rumored Hitler order for the immediate extirpation of all Jews in German-controlled Europe.

He listed the organizations for which he spoke as the American Jewish congress, American Jewish labor committee, Agudath Harabonim, B'nai B'rith, Synagogue Council of America and the World Jewish congress.

These organizations, Rabbi Wise said, had authorized him to invite the aid of any Christian organization ready to speak out on behalf of the Jewish victims.

Rabbi Wise explained that his group believed in the authenticity of the extirpation order on the strength of affidavits obtained by the state department from Jewish sources of information in free countries.

Rabbi Wise said the state department documents included affidavits from "reliable persons who knew" of such atrocities as turning Jewish bodies into fats and soap and lubricants, and of the latest Nazi method of killing Jews by having doctors inject air bubbles into their veins. He said the earlier gassing with prussic acid had been found too expensive.

Australia Acts to Feed All Troops in War Area

CANBERRA.—A major increase in Australia's food production was mapped-by Australian and U. S. officials after notice that all ships from the U. S. now must carry munitions and other war supplies.

Food will not be shipped, and Australia now must feed all troops in this war area.

Supply Minister John Beasley, who is also the head of the ministry of shipping, was working on the problem.

Cotton Picker Is Back On Job at Age of 103

CASA GRANDE, ARIZ. — John Gordon, who claims he's 103, is going back to work as a cotton picker.

The transplanted Tennessean says he picked cotton during the Civil, Spanish American and World War I, and, by cracky, he can do it again.

His brother, Robert, 80, recently picked 299 pounds of short staple in a day.
